Dedication

To Our Mothers

Monuments, through books, the most precious of all mediums, have been erected to men and women by authors from the time of the Unknown Author to that of our own Rupert Brooke, but no one was born a more noble idea than that which places these pages as an everlasting memorial to the Mothers of the members of the 1930 Class. On bended knee, we give this book into the hands of those who gave us that beauty of soul upon which is built all other things beautiful in Life.

Foreword

How beautiful were those days at Oglethorpe! How crowded with happiness yet mingled with a little sadness. With the gold, we found the dross, making more precious our rewards. Truly, the philosopher's stone is worth while, for it turned into precious metal the mind's food from which we have coined the ever stable riches of our intellectual banks.

In submitting this book, we hope we have gleaned a part of the beauty surrounding our lives as Oglethorpians. Treat our efforts not harshly for

"Each picture is painted with the blood of our lives;

Each word is written by the hand of our hearts."

*So many half-lit worlds to see,
So many muffled voices hear,
Such countless forms of things to feel,
Such breaths, breast-warmed of heaven's draught,
Such untried sweets to taste of, but
Only a momentary glance,
Through five, tiny, blurred panes of glass!*

*Yet, O so beautiful!
The odor of them is a universe!
So fair their favors, so entrancing sweet they seem,
So pleasing is their voice, so good the touch of all
I crave one pane the more,
One crystal pane and then —
O Worlds, O Infinite, O God!*

—Thornwell Jacobs.

Senior Class

The Years in Retrospect

In the following Senior Class section of this book, the reader will find pictures of sixteen Seniors who matriculated at Oglethorpe in 1926 along with a hundred and seven other freshmen. The remaining Seniors joined us as we proceeded along the way to graduation and happy are we in having them; they are a part of us, helping us to make the whole. Many, therefore, enter into the gates of college education, but few emerge from the fertile pasture wherein are fed hungry minds into the open fields beyond. We are fortunate in realizing the goal of our endeavors, but unfortunate in not being accompanied to the heights by our classmates. To our absent men and women we send this message, and hope, by some means of mental telepathy, that it reaches them: the spirit you helped to found as freshmen, sophomores and juniors remains with us yet, and as we get our diplomas, we get them not as individuals, but as a group for all of us, for you, the departed, as much as for us, the graduates.

The most prized of all the many gifts of Oglethorpe: freedom of thought, word and deed. We entered with the knowledge that we could think "as we pleased." But, coming from many sections of the country where academic freedom is hardly tolerated, we did not take much stock in it until we sat at the feet of our professors and learned from them the truths of life without the limitations of the sectarian college or university. As a result, our minds have been broadened and enriched by the true philosophy of our being. We have not had to check the reins; we have not had to cut and injure our minds; we have given our minds with their thoughts the proper outlets; investigations. Yet, the most of us reach the same conclusion as that of our fellow-graduates from the sectarian schools, although we have trod a different and harder path. We know why we return to the faiths of our fathers yet we cannot say how our minds made the journey. But they were guided aright by some Power. We began a journey to we knew not where, but like the world-voyager, returned to the home-port, happier for the beauties seen in the far-off crevices of human knowledge. Perhaps all of us can echo the words of Omar Khayyam, the friend of Nizam ul Mulk and of Hasan Ben Sabbah:

*"Myself when young did eagerly frequent
Doctor and Saint, and heard great argument
About it and about; but evermore
Came out by the same Door where in I went."*

U a m a c r a w

This book is an historical account of the years spent here. We were particularly active in athletics, scholarship and debating. We were represented in football by such notables as Cy Bell, Firpo Coffee, Amos Martin, Asa Wall, Lindsey Vaughn, Hoke Bell, Curry Burford and Monk Clements. In basketball, we had Cy Bell, Lindsey Vaughn, Banty Eubanks and Monk Clements. In baseball, the standards were carried by Martin, Wall and Vaughn. For two years, Banty Eubanks, the most famous one-man track team in the South, represented Oglethorpe on the track and in the field. Harold Coffee, Eloise Tanksley and Bryant Arnold were given the Coat-of-Arms and elected to Phi Kappa Delta for high scholastic attainments. We had our share of members in Boar's Head, Le Conte and Blue Key. During our senior year, more intercollegiate debates were held than in any year since 1924. The Orchestra, Players' Club and the Follies claimed a number of our classmates.

We sincerely hope our Oglethorpe has benefitted as a result of our labors in these and many other activities. We hope it has grown and prospered with honor to itself and glory to its founders. We hope we have been able to perpetuate the heritage of those who breathed the breath of life into the old Oglethorpe and the new. The spirits of Woodrow, Le Conte and Talmadge, coupled with that great emancipator, Oglethorpe, have led us ever forward to the goal which will be attained by our progeny—to the goal which will make of our University the Princeton of the South and the pride of the nation.

The companionship of our fellows, the helping hands of our professors gave us four happy years. We, at least, go so far as to say that the comradeship of our campus proved that Oglethorpe is the second best college or university in the world. So many colleges claim first place until we hesitate to enter the fight for the right to control that throne and be the monarch of all we survey; we take the rostrum of the second place, secure in our opinion that we belong there, and rightfully. A number of us returned to school each succeeding September for one reason: comradeship such as cannot be found elsewhere.

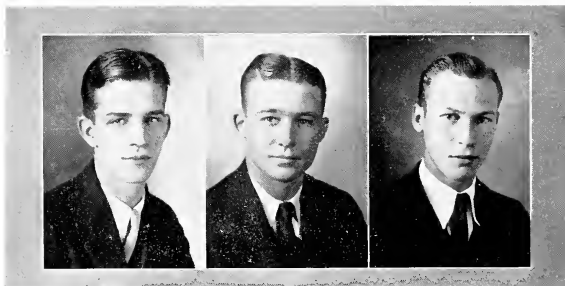

So, as we leave our school, the school into whose rock and granite we've blended heart's blood and the soul's hope, we repeat the words written by Dr. Jacobs for the marble slab at the railway station:

*"Coming, I go, and yet I know that I remain,
Going, I come, to whatso home with loss or gain.
Meeting, I part, yet in my heart I take with me
All that befell, or ill or well, eternally."*

Class Poem

OUR HERITAGE

*Years of love, yet years too short
In cold contrast to heavenly strife,
Have seen our souls in battle
For the treasured beauties of life.*

*English, history, chemistry, math,
O, the days in awe we sat at thy feet!
We learned thy secrets, we trod thy path,
Sweeping forever the bitter from sweet.*

*Truth we found in reality
Freely given by your loving, tender hands,
Our Oglethorpe, thou revered home of man;
So we take it, honored into many lunds.*

*When we've grown old and our hair's turned gray,
We'll turn to thee as we go our way,
And raise our heads to the stars above
To utter a prayer for thy blessings of love.*

Junior Class History

BY ARCHIE MORGAN

The group of talented boys and girls that gathered here in September 1927, have used the past three years as "stepping stones" to greater things, and in doing so, have accomplished much in every field of endeavor at Oglethorpe. The tares have sprung up and have been plucked out; others have attained high places; so it has been the chosen few who have constantly pressed forward.

First, let us pay a word of tribute to the faculty that has been ever ready to lend us a helping hand, and to the class officers that have been chosen to guide the class through many trying experiences.

This year John Turk was elected president of the class and Curley Fulton vice-president. Helen Boardman was elected secretary-treasurer and Frank Inman representative on the Student Faculty Advisory Council.

The class plays an important role in athletics at Oglethorpe. Its members on the varsity football squad are: Fulton, McKissick, Herrin, Woodward, Kratz, Golden and Adams. The class is represented on the basketball team by Herrin and Golden. In baseball we have Kimbrell, Holcombe, Rabon, Adams and Herrin, in track McKissick and Woodward.

Notable is the large number of the class that have helped in making the Players' Club and the Orchestra a success. Many have won honors in the "Who's Who" contest from year to year.

Lyle Kratz is Sports Editor of the Stormy Petrel and Yamacraw. Helen Boardman is Associate Editor of the Stormy Petrel; Paul Bacon is business manager; Betty Arnold and Eleanor Wyle are others on the Petrel staff.

In the field of athletics the Co-eds have contributed much. The class is represented in basketball by Gertrude Murray, Helen Boardman and Eleanor Wyle. Gertrude also has the distinction of being the first "Co-ed Mother," elected from the Junior class. She is also a chemist of no mean repute.

Whether or not every one has won a position of honor, each has contributed his part to the making of a better Oglethorpe. And as we pass on the last great "stepping stone," the senior year, let us remember:

*The light thou hast was given thee,
To guide thy life that thou might see,
To live a life of usefulness,
To share with those that are less blest.*

Class Poem

*Green before us lie the meadows,
Meadows which are still uncompassed
By the throngs gone on before.
Ours to pierce the gloomy thickets,
Slay the dragons therein hidden,
Driving toward an unknown shore.*

*Some will perish in the meadows,
Weaklings they, in strife unproven,
Fallen on the dewy grass.
Heed them not, press forward, comrades
Strike the dying from your memory
Greater barriers yet to pass.*

*Ours the god of great achievements,
To excel the ancient records,
Handed down from former day.
Through the meadow runs the pathway;
Bright through bars of leafy branches
Runs the untraversed way.*

Sophomore Class History

BY REAVIS O'NEAL

*"Like as the waves make towards the pebbled shore,
So do our minutes hasten to their end,
Each changing place with that which goes before." —Shakespeare.*

The beginning of the sophomore year at college is always tinged with sorrow and gladness. Fervid and joyful are the greetings exchanged by old friends meeting again, but sorrowful are those who search amid the throng for old remembered faces and find them not. So was it with the class of 1932.

Ninety-eight sophic morons, swelled with knowledge and savoir faire gleaned during the initial year at Oglethorpe, returned to academic haunts. Among those who dropped from the ranks was the president of the class, Charles Gardner. Frank Anderson, Jr., was selected to take his place.

The year has been an eventful one, replete with the unexpected. The grim glee with which the class welcomed the new men who came to make their vacant seats was turned into hasty withdrawal when half of the Freshman class was found to be composed of Titans who refused to submit to discipline, and the other half of gibbering babes who obeyed the slightest behest, not comprehending in their diminutiveness of mind the rerum causas of college life.

In athletics we have been very vigorous, contributing to the regular football team Kenneth Myers, Clay Sybert, Parker Bryant, Luke Appling and other lesser luminaries. On the basketball court were found Cecil Todd, Clay Sybert and Parker Bryant. Coach Frank Anderson has not as yet selected his first baseball team, but at least five sophomores are sure to find berths on the starting nine.

In cultural fields the class of 1932 has also shown much versatility. Betty Crandall and Atwood Whittington carried on capable shoulders the histrionic burden, while several others are well on the way toward obtaining the much coveted coat-of-arms award for scholastic supremacy. Reavis O'Neal is editor of The Stormy Petrel, student newspaper, and is also a member of the Players' Club and the Debate Council. Frank Anderson, Jr., is representative on the Student-Faculty Council. In the orchestra Ollie Nall displays marked ability with the trumpet.

Class Poem

BY REAVIS O'NEAL

*The shield-embroidered Viking ship we boarded moons ago
Has slackened in its wind-blown speed and now proceedeth slow.*

*The waves of Life encircle us with ever-loftier height,
And dark before us looms the shade of everlasting night.*

*But cast up high on towering crest we see across the dark
An islet with a shining bay of refuge for our bark.*

*Turn not aside, is Norseman's cry, to seek the safer place;
Before us lie unconquered depths whose terrors we must face.*

*The look-out stands upon the prow with hand above his eyes,
Who knows what mysteries he sees, what future he descries?*

Freshman Class History

By VIRGINIA TURNER

September the twenty-fifth, nineteen twenty-nine, found a large group of frightened Freshmen huddled in the far corner of Oglethorpe's extremely large Assembly Hall, deeply interested in each other and the upper-classmen.

Soon the Frosh co-eds donned baby caps and black stockings imposed upon them by the Sophomores, thus beginning initiation. The girls endured many hard knocks, but all survived with a cheerful smile — for, were not happy days ahead?

The election of class officers was an event of great importance. Almon Raines, of Savannah, became our distinguished president; William James, vice-president; Marie McAfee, secretary and treasurer; Virginia Turner, the class Historian.

Then for weeks the Frosh walked the campus with thoughtful faces. You have guessed the reason? Yes, the Minstrels, the production that brings joy to the heart of every Freshman. It was one of the most outstanding accomplishments of the class during the entire year.

Crisp Autumn days, golden leaves falling, and cheering throngs sway-ing before a figure in white. Football! The topnotch of college sports. Kenzie, Patrick, Walker, James, Jones, Nix, Rainwater, Raines and Lockett were outstanding among those who represented the class of 1933 on the gridiron.

Lon Chaney on the campus? No, only a Frosh trying to master the eccentric tap dance for the Petrel Follies. This was none other than Nammie Raines who teamed with Nonnie Maugham in a comedy skit to bring much applause from the audience and honor to the Freshman class.

How the time flies — Commencement — with exams and many heart-breaks, soon to be forgotten in the gayety upperclassmen inspire within us.

And now we bid farewell to a year of accomplishment and fun. We are not as happy as we thought we would be with this year behind us; those who do not come back will never forget Oglethorpe. A big part of our hearts will always remain on the beloved campus.

RAYMOND MAXWELL McEOWEN
JUNE 27, 1908 — OCTOBER 25, 1929

Glass Poem

*The shadow of the goal for which we strive
Now casts its outer shade upon our lives,
Changing our opinions, tastes, and views
Into a thing of myriad-colored hues.*

*Pure Reason takes her seat upon our brows
To make us comprehend the whats and hows
Of daily life amid a world of song,
A universe of Art in motley throng.*

*We are the New, whose eager hands do grasp
Forth for the fleeting idea, to clasp
It close unto our hearts, that we may give
The world a new and better way to live.*

*The task is ours to feed the glowing fire
Whose ever-higher tongues from Learning's pyre
Lick forth for new discoveries, whose seed
It first consumes, then stores for future need.*

"Muddy" Adams

For your pleasure, we present this reserve lineman who bids fair to land a regular berth as that smashing guard who leads the interference around end on Coach Harry's team.

"Curly" Fulton

Exactly half that guard combination of Fulton and Bell. Curly was one of the best guards who ever played at Oglethorpe. He gained fame on grid-irons all over the country.

Hoke Bell

Another guard, and the same fellow as the one mentioned above. He was, perhaps, the best guard Coach Harry Robertson ever had in clearing the field of opposition for the march of the backs.

"Luke" Appling

Luke finished his first season of varsity play in 1929. He played first string, too, and proved to be one of the squad's most versatile backs.

"Cy" Bell

His name will live in the halls of Oglethorpe fame for many years as a result of his part in defeating Tech in 1926 and Georgia in 1929. He had a most brilliant career.

Varsity

Frank McSherry

A Junior who has played two seasons of reserve ball, who has plenty to look forward to next year in the way of pigskin success.

Paul Goldsmith

Another of those Sophomores who gave the old fellows a run for their lives. Paul played a jam-up season at end and was a star in a number of games, notably, the Georgia fracas.

"Kid" Golden

A tackle with plenty of weight and drive who played his second year of reserve football in 1929. He will bear watching next year.

"Fatty" Pierce

A big end who had a rather tough time of it. He was out during the 1928 season and returned in 1929 after entering the holy bonds of matrimony. A good man.

"Firpo" Coffee

Quiet on the sidelines, but a regular demon once he takes his place at a tackle or guard. He made his letter for three years and starred in most of the games.

Hamacra w

"Spud" Kratz

Diminutive center who will fill Captain Burford's place in the line next year. He played regular ball for most of the last season and has already made two football letters.

Lyman Fox

The Sikeston Terror! Lyman was good. The thrill of a Petrel's life came when he stepped off sixty or seventy yards against Mercer for a touchdown on a muddy field.

"Cy" Todd

Fast as lightning and a hard driver who played an end on the reserve team. After taking on a little weight, this boy should make the Petrels a good man.

Charlie Rogers

Hailing from the regions whence Oglethorpe drew one of its best players, Andrews, Charlie made the squad his first year out for the team.

"Booster" Church

Coming up from Orlando High in 1927, Al or Booster, as you will, has been in the limelight as a football luminary for three years as a star at tackle. Tall and rangy, he has been a mainstay of the varsity for two years.

Q a m a c r a w

Dorris Selman

A graduate of Coach Chesnutt's 1928 Freshman team, Dorris played in the backfield on the reserve squad in 1929. A big man with lots of push, who needs only experience.

"Kid" Leithe

Product of Wheeling, West Virginia and another sophomore, played end for Coach Harry's aggregation on the reserve team. He will be back next year with plenty of fight and pepper.

Leslie Parham

A 1928 freshman tackle step-up who should be a good man in a year or so. He is rather small for a tackle and his progress has been retarded by weak ankles. He'll be there in a year.

Frank Anderson, Jr.

"Tanky," the son of Coach Frank Anderson, athletic director, played most of the season as a regular quarter and he directed the team in an excellent manner. He was particularly good in the Georgia game.

"Chick" Gardner

A light halfback and a sophomore, who was unable to get going. He gave up football when he withdrew from school just before Christmas.

Q a m a c r a w

Charles McLaughlin

Charlie was captain for the first of the season, but had to withdraw from school because of family obligations, thus cutting short a prosperous football career.

Dave Therrell

One of the few Junior backs on the squad. He was exceptionally light but a good kicker and a good man to have around when some hard hitting was needed.

"Dapper" Myers

Still another sophomore who won his spurs and the right to wear the block O in his first year of varsity competition. He played a whale of a game at half on the regular team.

Harry Emanuel

And still they come, these sophs. Harry, an end who was great in prep school but who hasn't found his way about in varsity play yet. Give him time, though and he'll come through everything but his shirt.

Parker Bryant

What a whale of an end this guy played against Chattanooga! A couple o' hundred pounds of concentrated nitric acid. He will be back for one of the greatest years an end ever had.

Hamacra

"Lefty" Sybert

That left-handed guy who could catch more Apple heaves than any man on the squad. Many times he gained on forward passes. A sophomore who was plenty good.

Alternate Captain-Elect McKissick

Charlie, the bull of Florida and a fine specimen of human flesh played a beautiful game at end this last year. He will help lead his mates in the most successful season on record, and he deserves it.

Charlie Taylor

Big Charlie, one of the most popular fellows on the squad who was, however, unable to find himself in the first year of varsity play. With a little more experience Charlie should be a good lineman.

Amos Martin

After playing two years as the regular Petrel general, Amos leaves to take a job as coach at Norman Park. Just let him instill into his players there what he evidenced on the Oglethorpe field and he will be successful again.

"Chief" Whaley

Another candidate for that running guard position of Hoke Bell's who is looking good at this writing during spring training. He will probably come through with flying colors.

Hamacraw

"Bill" Liggin

Substitute center from the 1928 freshman team who, in spite of his huge frame, was unable to land a berth during his first year of varsity play. He will be in there next year fighting with the rest of them.

Captain-Elect Herrin

Claude, that blond phantom of speed, who will lead Oglethorpe against Villanova, Wittenberg and other schools next year was extraordinarily good in his Junior year.

Dan Boone

A first-year back with plenty of speed and drive.

"Hot" Holcombe

As Junior Manager of the 1929 team, he was so good that his mates elected him as manager for 1930. Being jolly in spirit and an excellent companion, he will be successful.

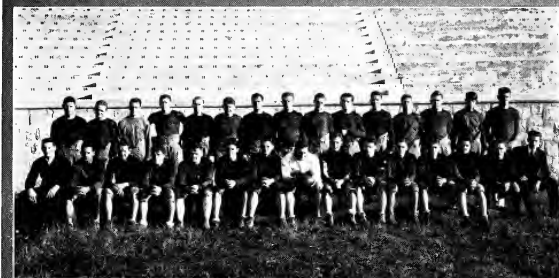

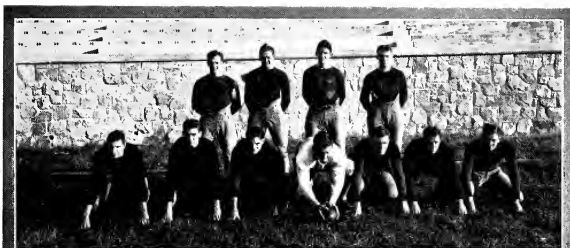

"Jake" Sutton

He served his second year as manager in 1929. Of all the managers of the last four years, he is the most out-standing.

FRANK ANDERSON — Coach Anderson has quite a number of former pupils now occupying berths with big league clubs. The reason for this fact is that he is one of the three best baseball coaches in the south.

CAPTAIN AMOS MARTIN — "Mouse" is a natural born ball player. Plays the keystone bag, second base, and hits the ball like nobody's business. When you find them any better they'll be from Norcross.

LUCIUS APPLING — "Luke" is hailed by many sports writers as the greatest college shortstop in the south. He is a consistent long distance hitter.

CHARLIE MITCHELL — Second on the pitching staff. "Bo" throws a mean ball. He is filling the vacancy left by Vaughn in fine fashion.

Hamacra w

CLAUD HERRIN — Petrel third baseman is one of the best ball players in school. When not playing or talking baseball you will find him with a ball in his hand, a hobby it must be.

GLENN GARDNER — Plays a good brand of ball in left field. It takes a good man to knock the ball out of the reach of this lad.

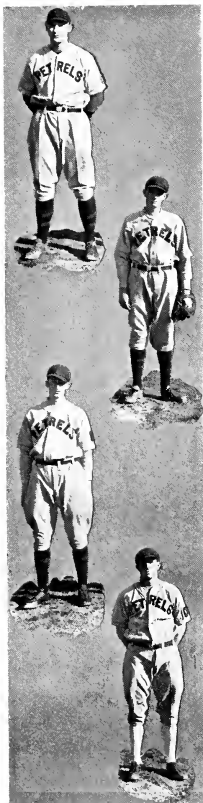

CLAY SYPERT — "Lefty" is the only man on the club who throws with the wrong arm. He is counted upon to do some good box work for the Petrels before leaving Oglethorpe.

ASA WALL — "Casey" takes great pleasure in elevating and propelling the horse hide into distant regions. He is a good keeper of the outer gardens and an excellent pitcher when called upon to do so.

FRANK ANDERSON, JR. — "Tanky" plays the role of utility infielder but plays it well. He is only a sophomore and has two more years in which to equal and surpass the splendid record made by his brother.

P a m a c r a w

PARKER BRYANT — "Big boy" possesses all the strength and speed necessary to make a good ball player. He is counted on to deliver in great style as a first baseman.

DUMONT BENNETT — "Gyp" is an ideal lead off man, small of stature, possesses a good eye and swings from the side of the plate nearest first base. His speed enables him to haul down many would be hits, and run the bases well

HUBERT HOLCOMB — A hitting pitcher. "Hot" chunks the ball over the plate so fast they seldom see it. Just finishing his second year on the mound the Petrels are looking forward to his great work next spring.

CECIL TODD — "Cy" is the initial base man. He plays a fine brand of ball, getting his bingles to do his bit of scoring. 'Ole "Cy" talks a great game, too.

ALBERT KIMBREL — "Al" is the best receiver since the days of Bryant. He just finished a great season. His hobby is throwing men out at second. He is a good hitter so be watching for him in the majors.

W a m p i r e

HAROLD ADAMS — "Muddy" is the most peppy man on the club. Whether behind the bat or on the coaching line he is always whooping things up and playing the game.

MELTON RABON — Another hurler that zips them past before they have a chance to see it. He has one season left to play for the Gold and Black.

IRVIN WOODWARD — "Jenny" is a hustling ball player who has the speed and power necessary to pitch the Gold and Black to many victories. He has one more year to devote to the cause of the Petrels.

MARION WHALEY — Another relief catcher and one who can be depended upon to throw them out at second. He, too, has another year.

ERNEST GOLDEN — "The Kid" is a good utility man who can play the field or pitch with good results. His services will be available again next year.

1930 Baseball Season

The 1930 baseball season saw Oglethorpe with one of the best diamond nines in the history of the school. To the old grads who sat in the bleachers as spectators it brought back the by-gone days of 1924 when the Petrels hung up the Southern Inter-Collegiate Championship.

The Petrels as a team are much better this season than the championship team. It was composed of a few stars who later went to the big leagues. But from the 1930 club it would be hard to pick the most outstanding player.

Sports writers of Atlanta gave the Petrels credit for having the best infield and outfield in the south, also, as being a team that could hit and hit plenty. That is the reason for so many wins to date.

In the opening games with Clemson the Petrels came out on top with two victories. These were followed by two games from Fort Benning in Columbus.

The three game series with Georgia Tech was captured by the Petrels with three victories in a row. At no time were the Birdmen in danger. Then they took one from Lindale in the Georgia Alabama League and dropped one, the first of the season.

Playing again in their own back yard they took a two game series from the Panthers of Birmingham Southern.

CAPTAIN CLAUD HERRIN

Basketball

The Petrel basketball team experienced the worst season in the history of Oglethorpe basketball teams. They lost every contest of the season.

One reason for this was the fast company the Birds were playing in. But only those who witnessed the games can appreciate the effort put forth by the team, which on several occasions, was only beaten by a one point margin. Although some of the scores appear that the Birds were out played they were always fighting and gave a good account of themselves. The opponent always knew that they had been through a real battle when the final whistle sounded.

The most outstanding showings of the Petrel quintet were those with the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. Both times the Y was pushed to the limit, only to top the Bird cagemen by a one point margin. In the second game with the Mercer Bears it was either teams game until just a few minutes before the game ended, when Matt, stellar Bear guard, dropped three double deckers to win the game by a six point margin.

The outstanding performers for the Petrels for the season were Captain Claud Herrin, Cecil Todd, Luke Appling and David Therrell.

Captain Herrin, playing a forward position, was here, there and everywhere on the court ringing baskets from every angle. He was the best floor man the Petrel's had.

As a running mate for Herrin, Coach Robertson had Cecil Todd, former product of Savannah. When playing in prep school circles, Todd was an All G. I. A. A. forward. His best game of the season was against the Mercer Bears when he scored twenty-two of his team's forty-seven points. He always turned in a good floor game.

Luke Appling and Dave Therrell were always seen in the role of guards. Both these lads played a consistent brand of ball all season. As well as being good guards they were accurate when it came to dropping the ball through the basket for points.

Inter-Fraternity Basketball

The Alpha Lambda Tau Fraternity defeated the Pi Kappa Phis by a 28-16 count to win the annual Inter-Fraternity Basketball tournament for the second consecutive year. This is the second time the Pi Kappa Phis and Alpha Lambda Taus have battled, in as many years, for the court honors among the fraternities on the campus.

With this win the Alpha Lambda Taus have two tournament wins toward the receiving of the cup offered by the Inter-Fraternity Council for permanent possession. It has to be won three consecutive times.

Summaries of the tourney follow:

Inter-Sorority Basketball

The Phi Kappa Eta Sorority won the second annual Inter-Sorority basketball tournament March 6, 1930 when they took the final game of the tournament on a 2-0 forfeit from the Kappa Delta quintet.

At the end of the regular playing time the score ended 11-11. An extra period was played but neither team scored. During the extra period two of the Kappa Delta players were unable to continue, thus dropping the game by forfeit.

Freshman Football

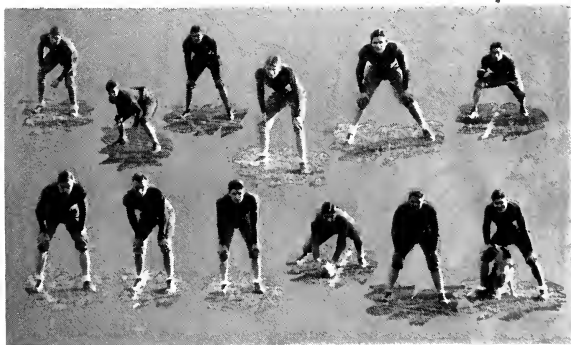

The Petrel Greenies made their debut on the gridiron October 12 and after the excitement of the battle was over they had hung a 14-0 score on Father Time's Sport rack at the cost of the fast Monroe A. & M. eleven.

Undaunted and ready for their next foe the Green Wave encountered the Soldiers of Georgia Military College. They sent the soldiers back to Milledgeville smarting under a 13-6 defeat.

Next came the Freshman of the University of Chattanooga. They defeated the Volunteers 20-0. Revenge was sweet for in 1928 the Vols defeated the Greenies by a two touchdown margin.

The next foe proved a Waterloo for the young Petrels. Mercer freshmen defeated the locals 7-0 on their home field. The game was played in a sea of mud and although Petrels can weather any kind of a storm they found going tough trying to wade through the mud plus the Cubs of Mercer.

The outstanding men for the entire season were: Kenzie, the giant lineman; Jones at end; Morrow at center and Raines and Walker in the backfield.

Freshman Baseball Squad

Under the careful tutelage of Coach Monk Clement, the baby Petrels are fast rounding into one of the smoothest frosh diamond machines to function on Hermance field.

At the present writing they have won two and lost one contest. Gordon, by virtue of some exceptionally good work on the part of their pitcher, was able to hang the heavy end of a three to two score in their column of the score-board. Bowdon College was easily disposed of by the junior Petrels to the tune of 12-2 and 5-2.

Several of these lads will see service with the varsity next year. Especially promising is the work of Craven behind the bat; Whitley at first base; Moore at second and Walker, Carter, Evans and Legree in the box.

"1933" Club

With the high school football and basketball days and "letter" something of the past a group of young stalwarts came to the Oglethorpe campus last fall in quest of newer and greater honors. More and more honors on the gridiron and basketball court were theirs for the getting. The idea of stepping into the class of higher and more mature athletics, as played in the Inter-collegiate circles inspired them to work hard.

They had something else to look forward to, a numeral, the key to the varsity football team and a varsity letter. It seems bigger to make the freshman insignia than it did his letter in his last year of prep school sports. In fact, it often means more to him than does his varsity letter.

All the men who make their numerals are closely associated because of their playing side by side, one for all, and all for one. And each year at the close of football season they organize with the number of their numeral as the name of their club.

This year we have the "1933" club to offer for your inspection. It is composed of the following men who made their numerals in either football or basketball.

History of Fraternities at Oglethorpe

Theta chapter of the Kappa Alpha Order was installed at old Oglethorpe College, January 31, 1871. On December 1, 1918 the original charter of the Theta chapter was reissued to Beta Nu chapter at the new Oglethorpe University. The charter members were as follows: W. R. Carlisle, D. S. Harrison, E. C. James, Jr., J. H. Goff, B. H. Wyly, H. W. Bagley, Hugh I. Turner, S. D. Smith, Jr.

The Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity was established on the present Oglethorpe campus May 16, 1918. The following members of the Pi chapter of the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity claim the distinction of being the first to wear the pin of a national fraternity at the new Oglethorpe University: G. M. McNeill, Jr., S. H. Gilkerson, A. F. Laird, D. C. McNeill, J. P. Wilson, L. M. McClung, H. Metcalf.

On February 4, 1922 the Alpha Omega Club became the Alpha Nu chapter of Delta Sigma Phi. The charter members were: W. C. Maddox, M. F. Calmes, J. J. Trimble, S. Holderness, Jr., D. B. Johnson, J. M. Stafford, Jr., J. R. Smith, G. E. Talley, P. C. Gaertner, C. J. Hollingsworth, J. E. Johnson, H. L. Cooper, C. J. Maddox, W. W. Crowe, S. G. Kaylor, L. G. Pfefferkorn, A. L. Shelton, D. O. Trimble, J. R. Kemp, M. Humphrey.

The Alpha Lambda Tau Fraternity has the distinction of being the first and only national fraternity to be founded on the Oglethorpe University campus. Prior to its being incorporated in 1921, it was known as the Alpha Lambda Club. The members whose names appear on the charter are: O. M. Cobb, J. H. Hamilton, T. V. Morrison, A. M. Hollingsworth, W. L. Nunn, J. C. Ivey, H. C. Trimble.

The Georgia Alpha chapter of Theta Kappa Nu, which was established at Oglethorpe December 5, 1925, was previously known as Delta Chi Epsilon. Following is a list of the charter members: J. P. Nation, Harry Banister, Albert Martin, Lewis Moseley, Alton Harden, Spencer Howell, Wayne Traer, Gibson Cornwell, Walter Ingram, Mitchell Bishop, Leslie Hammock, Winfred Kent, Leon Sisk.

The Honor Man

When one goes on a long journey he is delighted to bring back some souvenir in memory of the paths he trod, of the difficulties he encountered and overcame. Likewise, when one goes on a literary career or scholastic journey, not only bringing honor to himself but fame to his Alma Mater, it is but natural for his fellow men to want to show their appreciation of his efforts. This they do by electing him to membership in a society whose members have already trod the paths and surmounted the difficulties thereon.

A very fitting and appropriate description of the honorary fraternities on the Oglethorpe campus and the characteristics which they try to impart may be had from one man. Namely, Bryant Arnold. In him we believe was portrayed as nearly as possible just what these fraternities can mean to the individual and to the school. He was a member of every honorary fraternity on the campus, and all of these are glad to hold him as an example of their ideals.

In summing up an honorary fraternity man and calling Bryant, as he really was, The Honor Man, let us quote from Shakespeare:

*"His life was gentle; and the elements
So mix'd in him, that Nature might stand up,
And say to all the world, This was a Man!"*

Motto — To Make the best of the Worst

This Club was organized in 1928 by the members of Dr. J. F. Sellers' analytical chemistry class. It will automatically expire when the last members have been graduated. No one except the original members, seven, in number will ever be Alchemists at Oglethorpe. We were seven, now we are six since Robert Emery has left us.

No one is as near the student body as a student, no faculty member can feel the pulse beats of the students and understand them as they are understood by their fellow men. It was in view of these facts that the Student-Faculty Council was organized in 1927.

The chairman of this council is a senior, chosen annually by the student body. The president and four other students, one from each of the classes, constitute the membership of the council. Their duty is to work with the Dean of the University, assisting and advising him in regard to questions of conduct of the students who may be brought before them.

The Co-ed Council is a similar organization whose members are chosen from the Co-eds of the various classes. The cases brought before this body are relative to the women of the University. In addition to the representatives of the four classes is the "Co-ed Mother," appointed by the Dean.

On each floor of the dormitories there is a proctor whose duty it is to report to the head proctor the conduct in his hall from week to week. The head proctor in turn reports to the Dean.

By careful selection of the officers and members of these organizations and sincere co-operation with them, we can have a better Oglethorpe.

The Orchestra

The Oglethorpe University Orchestra under the leadership of Jeff McMillan, sophomore saxophonist, has made it possible for the students to enjoy many delightful dances in the gymnasium, as well as furnish entertainment for the chapel hour.

Following is a list of those who compose this harmonious group: Robert Shaw, former director and banjo player; Martin Arnold, bass; Asher Lee, trumpet; Vivian McGowan, piano; Jeff McMillan, saxophone; Ollie Nall, trumpet; William Deal, violin; Homer Gramling, drums; Charles Bourn, saxophone; Frank McSherry, trombone and Ralph Mincey, saxophone.

Plays and Players of 1929-30

With the installation of a Dramatic Laboratory course this year dealing with stage technique and settings under the direction of Samuel Earl Blackwell, Oglethorpe University graduate and originator of the annual Petrel Follies, legitimate stage productions, have been given a steady incentive to progress.

The first production of the year was presented in chapel in early November. It was a play written by Charles Willis, a former Oglethorpe student, entitled "Roslynne." The second production was an adaptation of Bernard Veiller's "Within the Law," which was produced at Oglethorpe under the title "Framed."

Several notable additions to Oglethorpe's histrionic roll of honor were made after the presentation of these two productions. Notable among these are Elizabeth Crandall, of Indiana, who played leading roles in both plays and also in the Petrel Follies. Catherine Maugham also took honors in both presentations, as did Jack Barker, Marie Shaw, Howard Martin, Marion Gertman, who proved to be an exceptional tragedienne; Atwood Whittington, Mildred Bradley, Natalie de Golian, Ida Nevin, William Maner and Paul Goldman.

The excellence of the plays was made possible by the diligence of Sam Miller, who worked day and night on the actual manufacture of the settings used in both plays. His artistry is at times professional in technique.

Extensive plans are being made for the enlargement of the stage program next year.

The Players' Club

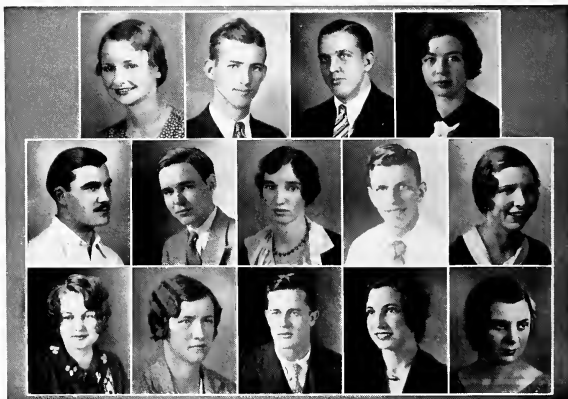

The club became a part of the University early in its history and since organization has contributed largely to the progress of the drama on the campus. Each year the club presents several plays to the student body in addition to taking part in the annual production of Spring plays.

THAT SOMETHING UNATTAINABLE

Though I should be King of a thousand worlds
Have all God has given to make life glad,
Though I should have the love of a thousand girls
Life for me must always be sad.

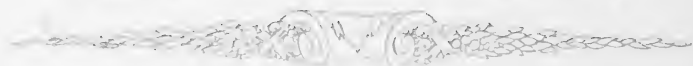

It sometimes seems odd, the tricks nature plays,
In limiting one's love to just one,
And making that one love, the love that stays,
Making or breaking a life just begun.

To my heart it spelled break, in the highest degree,
Brought misery no words can e'er tell.
It took all the ideals in life from me
And left it just one big HELL.

Why not love another, someone may think,
There's always another on down the line,
Such thoughts only make my heart deeper sink,
Knowing still better, she can never be mine.

Words haven't been made that could half describe her
Nor music so sweet as her voice.
Venus looks bad when standing beside her,
She could be anyones choice.

W a m a c r a w

B. V. D.'ed

Anemics

The Chariot (campus.)

She was the queen of a thousand dreams,
The golden haired maiden you see.
But in the soft gleam of the pale moon beams
She turned to another — and away from me.

It is just this that makes me pine
And stop those dreams that were vain,
Leaving nothing in life that I can call mine,
Nothing to strive for, nothing to gain.

Oh! if I could but only forget,
The days when I thought her so true
There'd be nothing more for me to regret,
Nothing in life to make it so blue.

But why should I go to the trouble to tell
Of the thing that is racking my brain
Making me feel like a ghost of Hell,
Driving me slowly, but surely insane.

It is just to warn you of the aches in my heart

Before the same happens to you.
To let you know before I depart,
That a Maidens love is all TABOO.

EXTRA-CURRICULUM

In April far from pallid, bookish toils,
 Drifting with breezes in a pine bateau,
 And lulled by riplets whose vibrating coils
 Spanked the boat's flanks in rapid tremolo;
 My half-closed eyes, surveying the array,
 Looked up with recognition at the slopes,
 Whose mottled blossoms were whitecaps, which lay
 Around the turtles' heads, like periscopes;
 At torpid tadpoles, wriggling to be frogs,
 And in night's myriad chorus croak their woes,
 And goggle at the stars from miry bogs.
 A dragon fly sat sunning on my toes.
 Far off, I faintly heard, unreconciled,
 Chimes peal the hour for Bible class — and smiled.

—Jim Hodges.

Reavis O'Neal: "What are you going to do with that fly paper?"

Gordon "Scotty" MacGregor: "I'm going to take it to the print shop and have the Petrels printed on it so I can send the exchanges by air mail."

SNOW

Nature in her pious mood,
An ivory rosary around her neck,
Carpets the cloistered aisles of earth
With evanescent velvet —
Like moonlight
Or pallid Damson petal rugs —
Immaculate —
Too pure,
Too saintly and silvery sad
For virgins feet —
I think that God comes here to walk
In the hushed silence after snow!

—Otis DeWitt Lyle.

Can you imagine Nonnie Maugham and "Scotty" MacGregor standing on a street corner with two slices of bread in each hand waiting for the traffic jam?

Offisher, you'd better lock me up, just hit my wife over the head with a club.

Did you kill her?

Don't think sho. Thash why I want to be locked up.

Upon hearing the report that alcohol was in the air, the dean immediately drew a long deep breath, and the exhalation of this tremendous gust of intoxicated ozone blew from the roll books the name of one of our football heroes.

Miss Sallie: (Speaking to one of her boys,) "He has his mother's eyes."

Mrs. Crum: "And his father's mouth."

The boy's room-mate: "And his rommie's trousers."

Dr. Jacobs: "Tom, my boy, what is your opinion of evolution?"

Tom Daniels: "It's a great idea, but can it be enforced?"

Eryson: "Does your girl know much about automobiles?"

Bacon: "Heavens, no; she asked if I cooled my car by stripping the gears."

Co-ed: "Why do they call Patrick's feet camels?"

Ed: "Because he lets them travel for days and days without water."

And how about the Scotchman who left everything he had to the Orphan's home?

What was that?

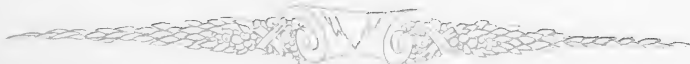

Thirteen kids.

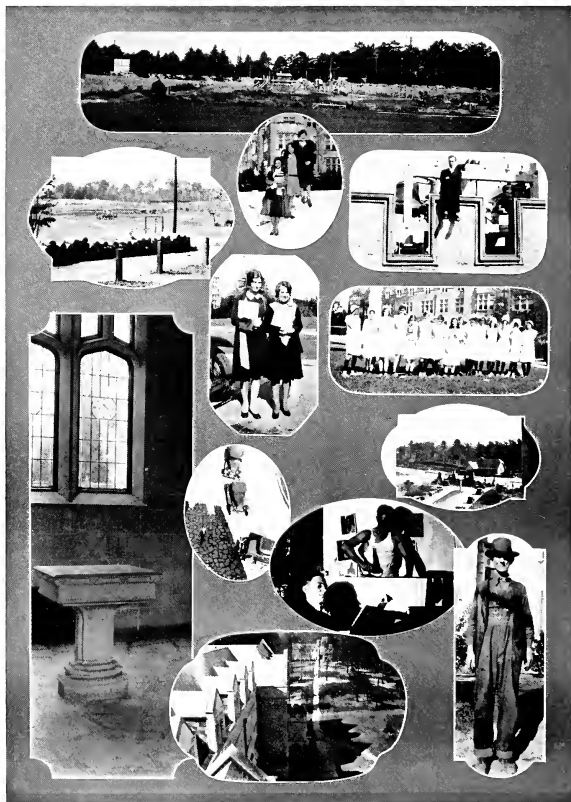

Ah! Grits!

MODERN AS YOUTH ITSELF!

● Within the space of a score of years, the scope of Southwestern Engraving Company has increased from the parent plant in Fort Worth to an organization of nine plants.

● Pioneering the field in the introduction of modernistic art, a personal service bureau composed of former college annual editors and managers, the budget and dummy system, and field service men, the name "Southwestern" has become synonymous with art motifs that are distinctive, an understanding, helpful service, and printing plates that "print right."
